Affordable, low-carbon natural gas is a smart energy source for many municipalities, but without in-depth market knowledge, buying it can be difficult.

ESCNJ's marketplace expertise gives members a straightforward way to buy natural gas at competitive prices. Natural-gas costs often vary greatly—because of rapid fluctuations, today's price may no longer be available tomorrow. Municipal facilities that buy natural gas through ESCNJ, though, will find their energy budgeting far easier and more predictable.

In addition to the extreme volatility of the natural-gas market, product types and contract terms are critical considerations. ESCNJ can guide municipalities through the buying process and prevailing market conditions to secure the optimal pairing of pricing and terms.
